Mr. Wendell, of the New-York Produce Exchange, protested against the passage of the bill. If Congress had the right to pass such a law it was unler the taxing power given by the Constitution. J. W. Bass, of the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce, was against dealings in "options," but favored dealing in "futures," as he considered the latter beneficial to the farmer.

Chairman Hatch stated that he considered legitimate speculation the life-blood of trade, but thought the system of "puts and calls" or "options" a poison and detrimental to business interests.

To put God in the Constitution is the purpose of a joint resolution introduced by Representative Morse, of Massachusetts, some weeks ago. The proposition is one that receives the cordial indorsement of many of the religious associations of the country, and these, through their lay and clerical representatives, were heard this morning by the House Committee on the Judiciary, to whom the resolution was referred. The committee-room was filled as it was probably never filled before.

Many of those present had journeyed from their homes in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New-Jersey, New-York and Massachusetts to testify by their presence their deep interest in the subject. Probably

It has, therefore, been determined to proceed with the work in accuriance with the design prepared by the Supervising Architect, which is satisfactory to the department, and which, it is believed will, when carried into execution, meet the approval of the public. This decision must not be accepted as indicating the opposition of this department to the general purposes of the act in February 29, 1893. On the contrary, I will favor any practicable method by which the department can avail itself of competition for the elevation and improvement of the architecture of our public buildings."

The secretary of the National Methodist University was yesterday informed of the first bequest made to the institution. It was not large, only $20, but, coming as it did from California, was valued as indicating the widespread interest in the university. Bishop Hurst says he feels very much encouraged over the prospects of the enterprise. Over $20,000 have been received within the last few months, desoite the hard times, and a resident of Washington has piedged $5,600 on the day the cornerstone of the first building is laid. That event will occur this year, Bishop Hurst says.

The House Committee on Naval Affairs to-day ordered favorably reported a bill granting the Red Cross Association the use of the Columbian caravels for one year for exhibition purposes. The propositions to give these vessels to the World's Columbian Museum at Chicago and to send one of them to Washington, to be kept for historical purposes, were left open.

STILL IGNORANT OF THEIR OWN MINDS. DEMOCRATS HOLD A CAUCUS AND FAIL, AS USUAL, TO AGREE.

Washington, March 6 .- Owing to the lack of s quorum and to the wide divergence of sentiments expressed, the Democratic caucus, which was called to-night, met and adjourned without definite action being taken upon the proposition to devise some method by which a quorum may be maintained in the House. The caucus, or, more properly speaking, the conference, for at no time were there more than fifty members present, was slow in gathering. At 8 o'clock, the time set for the meeting, scarcely a score of members were in their seats. From that time until 8,20 they came in singly and in pairs. Speaker Crisp was pres as was also Mr. Catchings, of Mississippi, one of the Democratic members of the Committee on Rules. The only New-Yorker in attendance wa General Sickles, who came in about 9 o'clock, b.:

"Whenever a rollcall on any question shows that a quorum has not voted, the clerk shall again call the names of those who have not voted, alphabetically or otherwise, as the Speaker may direct, and the Speaker shall call on each member prosent when his name is thus called to state how he votes on the pending question. Any member when thus called upon to vote, who shall fail or refuse to vote, who is not disqualified from voting by reason of personal interest in the question or who has not been excused from voting thereon, shall be deemed in contempt of the House, and the Speaker shall not thereafter recognize such a member to speak or to make any motion until he has recorded his vote on the pending question, or, failing to do so, until the House has excused him. A motion for this purpose can only be made after the subject matter which has been pending has been disposed of and when a quorum is present, and by a member who is not in contempt. The member making this motion shall be entitled to speak five minutes in favor thereof and then the Speaker may recognize some other member who is not in contempt to speak five minutes in proposition thereto, when the question shall be put upon excusing such member. The journal and the record shall contain each day a list of members who are in contempt of the House at the close of each day's proceedings and who have not been excused. If a quorum should not be present and vote as provided in this rule a call of the House may be ordered, and, when a member is brought into the House under the call, he shall be called upon by the Speaker to vote upon the question which was pending when the cold was offered, and if he should fail or refuse to do so, he shall be subject to all of the provisions of this rule the same as if he had been present when the vote was first taken on the question, as it was the shall to be dangerously close to an indorsement of all the shall be called upon by the Speaker to vote upon the question which was pending when the cole of do so, he shall be subject to all of the provisions of this rule the same as if he had been present when the vote was first t names of those who have not voted, alphabeti

THE ADMINISTRATION ARRAIGNED BY THE ONE-LEGGED VETERAN.

COMMISSIONER LICENSEN SHOWN TO BE IGNOR-ANT OF THE LAW AS WELL AS DE-FIGURET IN MANNERS AND RESPECT

FOR THE LIMISLATIVE BODY. INT TREEORAPH TO THE TRIBUXE. Washington, March 6.—Sturdy blows were dealt in the Hours of Representatives to-day against the cruel, unjust and, in many respects, unlawful ad-ministration of the Pension Bureau in obedience to the hostile policy conceived by President Cleveland and carried out by Hoke Smith and his subordinates 'n the Department of the Interior. It is a constant surprise to old soldiers who know little or nothing about Commissioner Lochren except his bright and worthy record as a Union soldier to find him of the service instruments in the execution of that policy. Some men who know him better are not so much surprised. Mr. Lochren fought at Gettyaburg with conspicuous gallantry, but his services were not more distinguished, nor his patriotism and devo-tion to the cause of his country, than were those of the man who commanded the Third Army Corps at Gettysburg. That gallant veteran stood in the House of Representatives to-day, supported by the crutches which he has been compelled to use for irty years on account of the loss of a leg on the battlefield, and championed the cause of the Union orphans of those who are dead, against the just and eruel policy and unlawful acts of a Democratic Administration and its instruments. Democratic Administration and its instruments.

General Sickles's speech was a strong and incisive one, and he quickly convicted Commissioner Locheren not only of "bad manners," but also of "bad law," and arserted and proved that he had been guilty of repeated violations of the law which he was sworn to uphoid and execute. "An army of men, said he, "12,090 of them, have been denied and deprived of their vested rights by a subordinate official, and, so far as we know, without interference from any of his superior officers."

It was a happy thought which inspired General Sickles to take for his text that paragraph in Grover Cleveland's letter of acceptance which relates to pensions, and which he caused to be read by the Clerk.

Cleveland's letter of acceptance which relates to pensions, and which he caused to be read by the Clerk.

"Upon that solemn declaration," said General Stekles, in impressive tone and manner, "many thousands of Union veterans voted for the Democratic candidate for the Presidency. If that declaration had been borne in mind and observed in filling the places of employment in the pension service much irritation and injustice would have been avoided and prevented."

He could not agree with the Commissioner of Pensions in respect to his interpretation of the law of 1883. In his letter to Congress, in answer to the resolution of inquiry, the Commissioner had said that the law was "inexact" and "inapt." Before that letter had been sent to Congress his superior should have returned it to the Commissioner with a direction to treat Congress and its legislation with more respect. (Laughter and applause.)

SECRETARY HERBERT REBUKED. CALLED TO TASK FOR CREDITING CADETS TO DISTRICTS WHERE THEY DO NOT LIVE.

Washington, March 6 (Special).—It became evident to-day that the Secretary of the Navy has incurred the disfavor of many members of the House of Representatives on both sides by his action in regard to naval cadetships. It appears that in at least two cases—and it is understood that there are four or five more—he has assumed the right to appoint as navni codets boys from one States to represent Congress districts in other States. For example, Representative Strait, of the Vth South Carolina District, failed to receive a Vih South Carolina District, failed to receive a notification from the Navy Department that he was authorized to nominate a candidate for the Naval Academy from that district, and after repeated to do so, he was informed that the "vacancy" from the Vth South Carolina District had been filled by an appointment from the Vth Alabama District. Mr. Strait brought the matter to the attention of the House to-day, and offered a resolution declaring that this act was done without authority of law, and was therefore hull and void. After a very brief discussion the resolution was unanimously adopted.

very brief discussion the resolution was manimously adopted.

In the desultory debate which prefaced this action Mr. Hopkins, of lillnois, explained that a so-called "vacancy" caused in the same manner in the XIth Illnois District, which is now represented in Congress by Colonel Marsh, a Republican, had been filled by the Secretary of the Navy by the appointment of a Kentucky youth. Members of the Bouse of Representatives are exceedingly and properly fealous and tenacious of their privileges under the law in the matter of appointments to the Military Academy and the Naval Academy, and it is rather unfortunate for Secretary Herbert, as well as for the interests of the Navy, that he should have taken the action on account of which he was so sternly rebuked by the House to-day.

The great fight was between Bulger and Higgins, and it will require the official count to determine the result. The figures of "The Times" (Republican) elect Higgins by 12 over Bulger. "The Palladium" (Democrat) claims Bulger's election by 20. There are disputed returns from the First and Eighth wards which may make the result a fig. The Republicans elect six out of eight Alderman and six out of eight Supervisors. McGowan, the Hill bemocrat, made a poor showing, polling less than 460 votes.

The shooting has created a deep sensation. At midnight, as this dispatch is being written, the streets of the city are crowded with men who are eagerly discussing the details, as far as they know them. Squabbles are occurring on every second street corner between the followers of the two Democratic factions, and if more blood is not shed before daylight it will be a wonder. The decent people have gone to their homes, feeling keenly the additional disgrace which has been placed upon this city on account of all that has happened to-day. They hold Governor Flower and Senator Murphy jointly responsible for it, and this sentiment is likely to take shape in a big mass-meeting to be held to-morrow night, at which ministers, lawyers and business men, irrespective of party, will express their opinions of these two men and of the crimes committed here to-day.

There was a meeting of the Committee of Thirty last evening at No. 501 Fifth-ave., which was at-

After a discussion of the situation and an examination of the lists of manes recommended for enrolling officers, it was decided to appoint and announce forthwith the boards of enrolling officers of three merriters each in all the 1.132 election districts of the city. This will make a total of 3.452 enrolling officers. It is understood that a large majority of the names have been sent in and vouched for by the old district leaders, who are to be wheel out of existence by this committee's new plan of reorganization, in other words, the new organization swallows the old organization and then proposed itself a brand new affair from head to be the content of the content

Major-General Daniel Butterfield reviewed the organization, which he led to the front in 1861. General Butterfield was in full uniform and were several slittering medias upon his breast. Following the review General Butterfield presented the Governor's cup to Private John Corrie, of Company B. The trophy was last night awarded for the first time, it having been instituted last year by Governor Flower. It is for any member of the National Guard of the State who makes the highest individual score in a stirms in match at ranges from 200 to 600 yards, the cup becomes the property of Company B. 12th Regiment, but is open to all competitors at the next rifle matches of the State National Guard. General Butterfield then presented the medias for twenty and ten years' continuous service, markmanship, etc. Parade was then dismissed, and was followed by music and dancing.

37 Union Square. THE PRESIDENT RETURNS.

HE HAD A THOROUGHLY ENJOYABLE VACATION.

A WAGONLOAD OF GAME EXHIBITED AS

TROPHUS OF THE TRIP. Washington, March 6 .- President Cleveland is back in Washington again, looking hearty and ruddy, and showing in many ways the good effect of his outing in the Violet. It was just half-past 1 o'clock this afternoon when the little vessel reached the wharf of the National Capital Ice Company, at Seventh-st., whence she started nine days ago. The President's home-coming was radically different from his departure from Washington, A small-sized bilizard was in progress when the Violet sailed from the ice wharf, while to-day was balmy, sunny and altogether pleasant. The people at the Ordnance Proving Ground, at Indian Head, twenty-four miles below Washington, were kept busy this morning answering inquiries as to whether the Violet had been sighted. Finally the message came that the steamer passed Indian Head at 11 o'clock. A short stop was made there, while a telephone message was sent to Private Secretary Thurber to have a carriage at the ice company's wharf at 12:45 o'clock. Mr. Taurber arrived there in his own brougham at the appointed hour, and peered down the river for a sight of the Presidential craft. A few min-utes later Secretary Gresham's closed carriage came. St. Clair, the President's steward and valet, was already at the wharf with a wagon, in which to carry the game to the White House, It was obvious by the size of the wagon, a very small one, that St. Clair discredited the published re-ports of the prowess of Mr. Cleveland and his companions. But St. Clair was mistaken, for the newspaper accounts were not exaggerations. About half a dozen people, including Mr. Thurber, were at the wharf when the Violet was sighted sound the southern end of the reclaimed later the tender was at the wharf. As the Violet neared shore the President could be seen standing on the port side of the upper deck. He were an evercoat, which was unbuttoned, and a derby hat. Secretary Gresham, who stood beside him, was similarly dressed, and carried a cane. Near them, pacing the deck, was Captain Robley D. Evans, the naval secretary of the Lighthouse Board, who icted as host on the trip. Before the gangplank was put in place, Mr. Thurher jumped aboard and shook hands all round. Then the President and his companions said "Goodby" to Captain Donnell, the commander of the Violet. Mr. Cleveland patted the captain on the Lack and said something that made both of them laugh. The gangplank was full of spring, so springs, in fact, that when Mr. Cleveland was midway on it it bounced him off his feet and he came near taking a header. He and Mr. Thurber while Secretary entered Mr. Thurber's carriage, while Secretary
